Proposed Auditorium

The Halcyon of 1913

VOLUME XXVIII

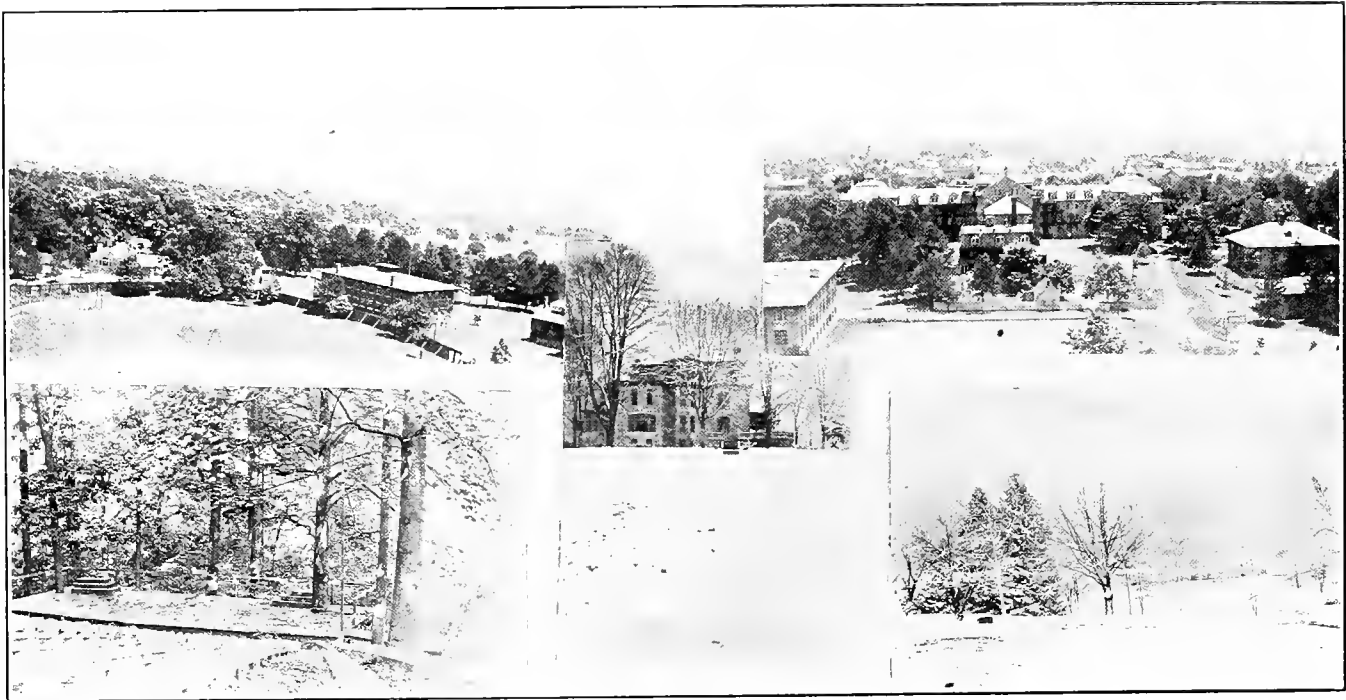

Published May, 1912

by

The Junior Class

of

Swarthmore College

Prologue

*Read if you will this book, and know
What in its pages we attempt to show:
How day by day we move,
Yet stop awhile to greet you ere we go.*

*And if the phrases read, the sketches viewed,
Appear unto an artist's eye too crude,
Think lightly on our faults ; we merely wish
To greet you with a heart in joyful mood.*

John Russell Hayes

Dedication

Some men laugh at their own jokes to show us they are witty; others slap us on the back to show us they are our friends.

We, the Class of 1913, dedicate our Halcyon to a man whose crisp wit comes from a solemn face, a man who helps the student, understands the frivolous, and takes an interest in us all.

John Russell Hayes

Poet, Wit, and Scholar.

Appreciation

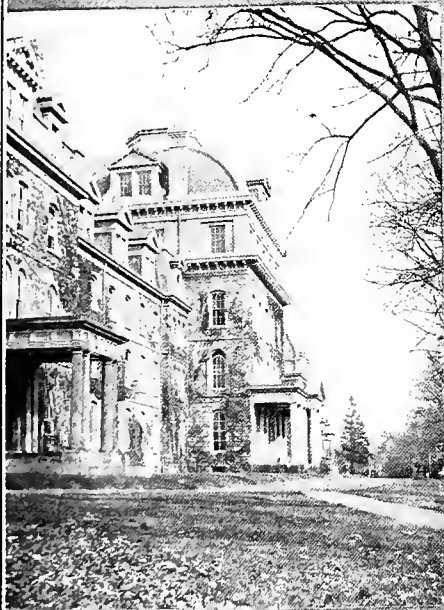

"LUCKY THIRTEEN," believe me, is a Class
Of many a merry lad and bonnie lass,—
Of dramatists and dreamers, altruists,
Musicians, orators and humorists,
Actors and athletes, poets and play-boys,
Who soothe our sorrows and increase our joys;
All warm of heart, all fond of harmless fun:
But quitters, thugs or cowards, not a one;
Cousins of yours and mine, firm friends and true,
Fitted to plan high deeds and put them through.

'Twould take a volume to portray them all,
So I name only (as the chances fall)
Ira-and-Nan, that blithe and gifted brain;
High-hearted Gieg and genial Delaplaine;
Melodious Martha, ardent Adaline,
And George and Nevt, those farmer friends of mine;

"Dolly," whose acting makes us laugh and weep;
And ——, whose oratory makes us sleep;
Cheery Joe Webb, Goehring of humor rare,
Strong loyal Gillam, Lloyd the debonair;
And Monaghan, that wit of tongue and pen;—
When shall we look upon their like again!

Honored am I, whose else forgotten name
The HALCYON shall illumine with its fame;
"NON OMNIS MORIAR" (as Horace said)
While Nineteen-Thirteen keeps me from the dead.
Then gratitude unto this noble Class
Of many a lively lad and bonnie lass!

Underhill Scholar; member of Phoenix Board (II); member of Athletic Council (IV); member of Varsity Hockey Team (IV); member of Gymnasium Team (III); member of Varsity Basketball Team (III); Captain of Class Gymnasium Team (IV); member of Joseph Leidy Scientific Society; member of Consumers' League Association; member of Equal Suffrage League; member of College Settlement Association; Secretary (II), President (III); member of Glee Club (III); member of Somerville Literary Society; Recording Secretary (IV); Sophomore Oratorical Team; Women's Student Government Executive Board, Secretary (II-1), Vice-President (III-1), President (IV-1); Chairman of Somerville Day Committee; Delegate to Intercollegiate Conference (III); eligible for the Lucretia Mott Fellowship; member of Π Σ X.

Thomas Rothwell Taylor, Κ Σ, Swarthmore, Pa.

Civil Engineering.

“A heart to resolve, a head to contrive, a hand to execute.”

Prepared at Swarthmore Preparatory School; member of Phoenix Staff (I, II, III, IV); Editor of 1912 HALCYON; member of Eunomian Literary Society; Censor (III-2); Class Oratorical Team (I); Vice-President of Class (III-2, IV-2); member of Tennis Team (III, IV); Assistant Manager of Base-ball Team (III); Men's Student Government Committee (III-2), Chairman (IV-1).

Charles Garrett Thatcher, Φ Σ Κ, Swarthmore, Pa.

Mechanical Engineering.

On their own merits, modest men are dumb.”

Prepared at Swarthmore High School; member of Delphic Literary Society; Artist of 1912 HALCYON Staff; Treasurer of Class (IV-1); Freshman-Sophomore Reception Committee; Manager of Varsity Lacrosse Team (IV); member of Scrub Lacrosse Team (III); member of Class Foot-ball Team (I); member of Book and Key.

Edith Freeman Tracey, $\Pi B \Phi$, Glyndon, Md.

French.

“She that was ever fair and never proud,
Had tongue at will and yet was never loud.”

Prepared at Franklin High School; member of Somerville Literary Society; member of Class Basket-ball Team (III); member of Class Hockey Team (III); member of T. F.

Natalie Sudler Turner, Asbury Park, N. J.

English.

“She little heeds the rigid rule,
The dull restraint, the chiding frown,
The weary taming of the school
Cannot tame her spirits down.”

Prepared at Asbury Park High School; member of Somerville Literary Society.

Evalynn Walker, Media, Pa.

German.

“Sweet and pure was all I saw in her.”

Prepared at Media Friends' Select School; member of Somerville Literary Society.

Helen Motz Weaver, Aldan, Pa.

French.

“On again,
Off again,
Gone again,
Finnigan.”

Prepared at Swarthmore Preparatory School; member of Somerville Literary Society.

Warren Wallace Weaver, $\Phi \Sigma \kappa$, Philadelphia, Pa.

Electrical Engineering.

“Rare compound of oddity, frolic, and fun,
Who relished a joke and rejoiced in a pun.”

Prepared at Swarthmore Preparatory School; member of Varsity Basket-ball Team (IV); member of Scrub Basket-ball Team (II, III); member of Class Foot-ball Team (II); Captain of Class Basket-ball Team (II).

Herman Elliott Wells, Nottingham, Pa.

Civil Engineering.

“ His life was gentle and the elements
So mixed in him that nature might stand up
And say to all the world—“this is a man! ”

Prepared at Nottingham High School; member of Delphic Literary Society, Librarian (III-1, Treasurer (III-2) member of Joseph Leidy Scientific Society, President (IV); Vice-President of Class (IV-1), Treasurer (IV-2); member of Class Football Team (I, II); member of Scrub Football Team (III, IV); member of Scrub Lacross Team (III); Junior Delegate to Convention; member of Men's Student Government Committee (IV, 1-2), Chairman (IV-2).

Anna Deborah White, K A @, Lansdowne, Pa.

Biology.

“ To those who know thee no words can paint,
And those who know thee know all words are faint.”

Member of Somerville Literary Society, Censor (II-1); member of Joseph Leidy Scientific Society; member of College Lecture Committee (IV); member of Women's Student Government Executive Board (III-1); member of 1912 HALCYON Staff; member of II Σ X.

Martha Willets, K K Γ, Trenton, N. J.

French.

“ She knows what's what and that's as high
As metaphysic wit can fly.”

Prepared at New Jersey State Model School; member of Somerville Literary Society; Secretary of Class (I-2); Junior-Freshman Reception Committee; College Reception Committee (I); Athletic Council (III, IV); Secretary of Women's Athletic Association (III); member of Varsity Class Gymnasium Team (II, III, IV); member of Varsity Hockey Team (III, IV); Captain of Class Gymnasium Team (IV); President of Equal Suffrage League (III); member of Glee Club (I); member of Joseph Leidy Scientific Society; member of Women's Student Government Executive Board (III-1-2, IV-1); member of 1912 HALCYON Staff; member of II Σ X; member of Γ I K; member of T T.

Members of the Class of 1913

KATHARINE ELSIE ANDERS, Fairview Village, Pa.

If you take two cheeks that are always red,
And a smile that's continually sweet,
Two lips always saying, "Why is that so?"
"How lovely!" That's Elsie, petite.

IVA ADELE APPLEBY, Wilmington, Del.

In the front reception parlor, first floor Parrish Hall,
There's a little girl a thumpin' out the tune that gets us all,
When those strains float up the hallway
All the grinds will stop and say—
"Come on back! to H—! with study!
Come on back! Hear Ivy play!"

ARTHUR UNDERWOOD AYRES, Chester, Pa.

I never seen another lad
Who knowed so gol-darned much,
Of anything and everything,
Like book-learnin' and such.
He's not so very big, you know,
But bless my poor old heart,
That A. U. Ayres is surely there,
When it comes to being smart.

ALBERT BREWER BAKER, Δ Υ, Mt. Washington, Md.

"Albert Baker, why don't you get a girl?"
 "I have a girl; they're all my girls."
 "That's just it—I mean a real case."
 "Too much trouble. Enough good dancers without all that work."
 "Well, about that girl down home?"
 "Chum of mine—she's got a machine."
 "I give you up—but, honest, I'd like to see you in love."
 "Sorry."

P. S.—Just received notice that girl down home is married. Hard luck for "Bake."

P. S. No. 2.—Latest news from the front. Bake hit at last. Shot through the heart in Philadelphia. Not likely to recover.

WILLIAM MARK BITTLE, Φ Σ Κ, Swarthmore, Pa.

We come to a Junior. Mark Bittle by name,
 A guy in Chem. Lab. under Alleman's reign,
 Though his talk may be drawly and his movements slow,
 He's there with the women. Ask Martha; she'll know.

MARY FERRIS BLACKBURN, Baltimore, Md.

Mary started her college career on a chair ordering the Freshman feed. Since then—well, Mary's been on a chair most of the time. But she is a good manager, and a good athlete, "And a good wife," said Jo, smiling at the boys.

TREVA GLADYS BLAIR,

El Paso, Texas.

The American Baedeker of our class. She received her early training in Texas, but since that time has never lived for two consecutive years in the same place. Her specialty is the great southwest where she received the first two years of her college education. That girl can sing, too! Every morning in collection the Ecuadorian empresario, Señor Ricaurte charmed by her voice, stares at her, spellbound.

LILLIAN BOYD,

Secane, Pa.

"Hello, Lil, where you been?"
"Home."
"Why you were home last week and the week before. Anything exciting happening?"
"Nope."
"Say! You're not going to bed already, are you? It's only eight o'clock." (But Lillian was already in her room, and the light was out.)

WILLIAM HOLMES BROWN, T A O,

Seesburg, Va.

The original Ducky's namesake. Ducky by name and Ducky by nature, but with a cackle like a hen. Three years of co-education, and the only case he has had is a cigarette-case won in a raffle at the drug store.

J. AUGUSTUS CADWALADER, Φ K Ψ, Yardley, Pa.

From a lawyer's point of view—"He could turn white into black."
 From a poet's point of view—"Remove from me those jarring spirits."
 From a philosopher's point of view—"He hath a mind; 'tis keen."
 From a man's point of view—"He's a Phi Psi. There must be something to him."
 From his own point of view—"I recognize few equals and no superiors in heaven or upon earth."

RUTH ANNA CARLILE, West Grove, Pa.

"Isn't she the cutest little thing!
 She isn't in college, is she? A Junior?!!!
 You say she is twenty? Oh; around the waist."
 The joke of it is Ruth insists upon being taken seriously.
 "Oh, people,—I think you're awful," she says, if we tease her too much.

PHILIP JACKSON CARPENTER, Φ K Ψ, Wilmington, Del.

When Philip was a very little boy he came under certain religious influences that tended to develop him at an early age into a logical thinker. It is said that he startled his doting parents by making remarks that horrified them. As he grew up, his ideas grew with him, for to-day he is the personification of a perfect gentleman, and has, as Miss Gorham attests, "a really superior mind."

SARA MILDRED CHANDLER,

Oxford, Pa.

"Oh, if I could only get my suit case! Yes, it has eats in it, and there those boys are jumping over it again." (Crash! Bang!) "There goes Dolly vaulting over it now, and that poor cake will be all mixed up in my clean clothes! Ruth! Please get it for me?"—as Ducky, McCabe and Storb came vaulting over the suit-cases and hampers.

MARGARET CLIFFORD,

Swarthmore, Pa.

"Sa-y, people! Iva says I've gained six ounces and look better for it." (And she is always hungry.) She went to gay Paris last summer, and now is Mr. Rosenberg's pride and joy. "Miss Clifford, how do you translate that?"

Did you ever hear Peggy laugh?

Well, it's a painful performance for all concerned.

MARION COLES,

Merchantville, N. J.

"See that girl over there with the frivolous hair?"

"Yes."

"Well, that's Marion Coles."

"Who's she?"

"Oh, just librarian of Somerville, champion hockey player, star public speaker, member of Glee Club, member of student 'exec,'"

For a more detailed account see next year's Senior Personalia.

Editor's Note.—This is not an epitaph.

RUSSELL MAHLON COOK,

Salem, Ohio.

Cookie finds more profitable things to do at night than to sleep. Dr. Fussell, realizing this, begged Russell's pardon for rudely awakening him when he struck two pieces of steel together sharply to illustrate an experiment.

MARY ANNE CORDINGLY,

Philadelphia, Pa.

"Oh sleep! it is a gentle thing,
Beloved from pole to pole."

Perhaps this is the reason Mary is so seldom in the dining-room. Are her red cheeks due to the care with which she abstains from College meals? Tactful persuasion may change her decision, but remember it must be tactful, for Mary can be very stubborn. This may be caused by the fact that she is the victim of a conscience,—although Swarthmore is rapidly wearing it away. If you want diversion, choose Mary for your companion and listen to her vivid fish tales. Would anyone suspect it?

WALTER EDWIN COX, Δ Y,

Malvern, Pa.

There must be a kind of satisfaction in having a stand in with the President of the Women's Student Government Association. Nobody can criticize you, and no one can tell on you, even if you haven't missed a Sunday afternoon since College opened.

But Cox deserves all the relaxation he gets. He's a hard worker and a good business manager, as his splendid generalship of The Phoenix testifies.

ROLAND HOMER CREW, T A O,

Betterton, Md.

Crew is getting acclimated pretty fast. Transplanted from a southern soil, he is doing his best with Swarthmore engineering, Swarthmore meals, and Swarthmore girls. By the way, they say "he's an awful fusser," so beware ye Northerners, these Southern men have charms.

JOSEPHINE HOUSE DENNISON,

East Downingtown, Pa.

When Jo took a flight,
From a sled one night,
She might have been in a terrible plight,
But for "Arms and the Man" and that bright moonlight.
(Ask Jo if she believes in "rotating Freshmen." If not, why not?)

ROY WELTY DELAPLAINE, K Σ, Waynesboro, Pa.

"Say, Delly, any letters?"
"One from Lewistown and the Blue Ridge Zephyr."
Delly reads the paper.
"Say, what the——! Whoa——! Student Exec."
"Listen:—Waynesboro boy defends his position on the Swarthmore team. Roy ——! good-night; there's a dead editor already. We raise editors out there, and when they're about seven feet high, we use them instead of our old wooden fence in the middle of the town. So long, Bo; I've got to get these serious plays and practice on the guitar."

JUANITA MAY DOWNES,

Chester, Pa.

“Juanita,” a ballad, sung by Homer, her favorite.
Nita.—Juanita,
Let me linger by thy side;
Nita.—Juanita,
Here’s an A.—your pride.

DAVID TULLY DUNNING, Φ Σ Κ,

Sussex, N. J.

Here’s to you, lengthy crackerjack,
In your home in Wharton Hall,
And your squirmy, wormy parasites
That through Fruitanas crawl.
And if we come to buy on tick,
“Cash! Cash!” is what you say,
And when we open up the box,
Each cracker crawls away.

KENNETH VERNON FARMER, Φ Σ Κ,

Newark, Ohio.

“Pretty is as pretty does.” You know, Kenneth, that this is what all little children should be taught. If the little ones grow up and retain their beauty, they should still remember this saying and profit thereby. Pause and think of the trail of bleeding hearts you have left behind. Beware lest yours in turn may bleed.

ESTHER KATHRYN FELL, K A ©, Philadelphia, Pa.

Can't you just imagine K. Fell in hoop skirts and fichus and Dolly Vardens and all the picturesque costumes of every picturesque age, even the cunning evening caps of to-day? K. is in great demand for '13 shows, for tableaux of every sort, for dances, for house parties,—well, she's always in demand.

ELIZA JOSEPHINE FOSTER, K K Γ, Trenton, N. J.

Does she inherit those artistic talents from her mother? Just look and see "E. J. F." on the pictures in this book, and yet that's the girl that's always fussing. But then, it may not be her fault. Besides, its showing good college spirit to keep a man visiting his Alma Mater.

ALICE PITMAN GARWOOD, Swarthmore, Pa.

Goddard steps into the lime-light and sings,—
"Oh! don't you remember sweet Alice, Prof. Pace,
Sweet Alice who gassed all the time;
Who yelled in reply to each question I asked;
To dispute her, I felt it a crime."
Pace in a high, plaintive tenor, makes reply,—
"Well,—the female of the species is more deadly than the male."

LOUIS FRED GIEG, K Σ,

Millville, N. J.

"Hello. Yes, this is Gieg. Want my full name? Louis Fred, of Millville, N. J. Yes, Captain and Tackle. Yes, play a little Basket-ball. In the summer? Life guard at Ocean City. Say who's trying to kid me. Wrong number, I think you have. Hello! Oh, yes, sure. I'll hurry back from the trip and come around to see you. But listen—; here comes Brooke, and he says it tires men to talk to girls. Good-bye." And Fred saunters in to dinner. whistling "I love you."

DOROTHY MAY GILL,

Philadelphia, Pa.

When she works, she does it right;
When she plays, she plays with might;
But most of the time she's out of sight.—
Gone home!

WILLIAM HENRY GILLAM, JR., Δ Y,

Langhorne, Pa.

There was a young man named Gillam,
These pages, he tried hard to fill 'em.
But his staff,—how they shirked
When they ought to have worked!
And Gillam oft swore that he'd kill 'em.

FRANCIS RUDOLPH GOEHRING, K Σ, Philadelphia, Pa.

Iva's point of view,—apple of her eye.
College point of view,—one of a pear.
As a joker,—an old chestnut,
For class spirit,—a peach.
Under no consideration,—a lemon.

WASHINGTON RUSSELL GREEN, Trenton, N. J.

Russell Green is a progressive young man of good taste. So he shook his heels free from the dust of 1914 and joined us. He took a big step in his career, too, when he made the stump speeches in the last election. Now everything points toward a brilliant political career, with all his collegiate eloquence turned to civic or national reform.

GRACE WINTER GREENE, Dover, Del.

After having practiced the art of Black Magic as a mere social asset for several years, this woman has decided to make a detailed study of psycho-theosophy. If you happen to possess a virtue she can ferret it out for you, and of your faults she can inform you, even to the most hidden.

Go to her and learn of the future.

VIRGINIA PRESTON GRIEST,

Lititz, Pa.

At the Swarthmore bureau of information if you ask the following questions you will get the following answers:—

“Who will write something for The Phoenix this week?”

“Virginia Griest will, I’m sure,—for practice.”

“Who will take my place at College Settlement?”

“Virginia Griest will, I’m sure,—for experience.”

“Who will help with the make-ups for the Junior play?”

“Virginia Griest will, I’m sure,—for practice.”

“Who has some affection to waste on nearly everybody?”

“Virginia Griest has, I’m sure;—for experience or practice, which?”

MARGUERITE HALLOWELL,

Philadelphia, Pa.

We, the suffragettes of the class of 1913, wish to introduce a member who has all the virtues and none of the vices of the masculines of said class. Proof:—

She can argue down even Russell Green’s best oratorical efforts.

She knows more than Augustus Cad or Rheinheimer.

She can run faster than Schless. (See hockey field.)

She can dazzle Miss Bronk better than Jack Reid.

She is intrusted with more class business than Cox or Gillam.

She looks less like a suffragette than Rex Wall.

EMMA KNOX HAWTHORNE,

Norristown, Pa.

We don’t like the word “dippy stude,” so we will call her a “conscientious student.” Just at present it’s German, and she is sorely troubled over the problem of reading only one play a week. Add to her studious propensities, a very good disposition and a willingness to do anything for anybody, and you have Emma.

TACY PAUL HOUGH,

Ambler, Pa.

On Monday comes biology,
 On Tuesday is psychology,
 On Wednesday is zoology,
 On Thursday anthropology,
 On Friday physiology,
 On Saturday geology,
 On Sunday the doxology.
 That's Tacy's week from end to end,
 Yet there's always time to defend
 Any loyal anti-suffrage friend.

FOLGER BRANSON HOWELL, K Σ,

Springfield, Ohio.

The Apollo of the West wind, otherwise known as Big Buck Howell. Just call him Buck; it will make him blush. That's the only reason Folgy does not go out for track,—for in that costume people could see him blush so easily. Nothing worries Folgy, not even the fact that the sun is gradually cooling off.

ELIZABETH EACHUS JACKSON, Π Β Φ,

Lansdowne, Pa.

How could the little Jackson girl
 Improve her charming looks?
 The boys would rather gaze at her
 Than at their copy books.
 How fetchingly she turns her eyes,
 How coyly spreads her feet,
 And when a naughty chorus girl
 No one could keep his seat.

ALDEN BLISS JONES,

Swarthmore, Pa.

Jones is a whole zoo in himself. He has a head like an infantile hippopotamus, a torso like a gopher, and hind legs like a Kadiac bear. His wit is as playful as a bashful elephant's, and his stride is like that of an ostrich with corns. No wonder he takes zoology.

ELIZABETH KELLER, K A ©,

Morton, Pa.

Kingdom—Animalia.

Phylum—Chordata (she has a back-bone).

Class—1913.

Order—Rather disorderly.

Family—Very hospitable people.

Genus—Ingenious.

Species—Night owl.

Remarks:—A healthy brute.

WILLIAM VERNON KERNS,

Moline, Ill.

Scary William with the foolish questions from Moline. He's a track man, and no wonder he's fast!

He runs for breakfast,

He runs for classes,

He runs for trains,

He runs from rough-houses,

He runs from women, and

He runs from Potter.

EDITH MARY KINNARD,

Pendleton, Ind.

She has the eyes and hair of our dearly-beloved Becky Sharp, but she's not so much to be feared. Like Becky she has an Emilia whom she outwardly adores, but she's not insincere, we hope. She is cunning like this Becky, for she too has a Jos., whose affections she schemes how to hold.

ROSWITHA AGNES KUDLICH,

New York, N. Y.

"People, Benjy makes me so mad. I don't care if I do major with him. Are you going to use your sweater this hour" (in a pleading tone), "or your hockey skirt this afternoon? Oh! thanks ever so much. You know it's so cold I nearly have a fit. You don't love me any more, do you? Well, I don't care!" And with a rib-breaking tackle, Rockie saunters off down the hall. "Whe'as Tacy?"

LOUISE MARIE LAWTON,

New York, N. Y.

Some day Louise Lawton will live in an imposing house,—in Boston, probably, and the front of it will be plastered with these shingles:—

- SCENE AND SIGN-PAINTER HAIRDRESSER DANCING LESSONS
- TENNIS FOR BEGINNERS
- PERSONAL CONDUCTOR OF EUROPEAN TOURS—EXPERIENCED
- HOCKEY COACH—GOAL SPECIALIST
- LITERARY CRITIC—BEST REFERENCES IN MR. PACE

LLOYD DOWNS LEWIS,

Pendleton, Ind.

If you see a boy swinging up the boardwalk to Parrish with a stride like a caribou cow, and whistling through his nose that love is "like a red, red rose," you may be sure that is Lloyd.

Lloyd's uncle once told him that he would never want him to be spoken of as a "good boy." Don't worry, Uncle Ephraim.

"How do you make such a hit with the women, Lloyd?"

"Oh, just tell each one she is different from the other girls."

MARGARET HOAR LIVINGSTON,

Lansdowne, Pa.

Does Margaret live in a florist's shop? If she does, she's a splendid ad., because she does wear the most beautiful flowers. She just smiles at Benjy. over a huge bunch of carnations and chatters away in German to beat the band. And presto! She gets all A's on her report.

WILLIAM PENN LUKENS,

Swarthmore, Pa.

The College Fusser. William Penn is always fussing (not around Parrish) around the Chemistry and Science Buildings. As a result he breaks (not hearts) test tubes, and ruins (not homes) Dr. Hoadley's volt-meters.

FRANCIS MILLER MACDOWELL, Phoenicia, N. Y.

Here is our student named Fanny,
Who's turned out a perfect old granny.
His alarm rings at four,
But he's up long before,—

And that is the reason why during all his college career he has roomed alone.

HELEN MAY MCCONAGHY, II Σ, Media, Pa.

We see her times too few,
But when we do,
Much height we see, 'tis true.

In the village she doth dwell,
So just what to tell
Since we know her none too well.

Well!!! Ask anybody about Helen
As the irate husband in the Day Students' play.

LETITIA MCHOSE, II Σ, Reading, Pa.

Letitia is not one of those negative characters; in fact, she is quite positive on all points and particularly so on these:—

She is strong for woman's suffrage (when Dad is not around).

She is great on tramping on dry land. (When she comes to muddy streams there is someone to carry her across.)

She can hand out a line of argument in words as long as the asphaltum which would make even Doc Alleman sit up and take notice.

HENRY LEE MESSNER, Φ K Ψ,

Roaring Branch, Pa.

“The time has come,” our Henry said,
“To talk of sober things,
Of choppy sticks,—and politics,
And earnest studyings.
And have you read the ‘Simple Life’?
Why, Bo! You’ll never pass,
Unless you cut your shows and blows,
And come to Bible class. By ging!”

ESTHER MIDLER,

Brooklyn, N. Y.

In describing Esther, you can’t just say that she has brown eyes and wavy hair. You have to tell that she is extremely and intensely interested in everything about her, that she knows the world pretty well, and that she has literary aspirations. Accordingly, we place her in that select group which we respectfully call “1913’s Hall of Fame.”

JAMES MONAGHAN, 2D.,

Philadelphia, Pa.

“Yes, it was my second trip home from the Wild West. I’d just fired a tough-lookin’ hobo off the train with my big Colt six-shooter, an’ I laid down an’ went to sleep. All at once I woke up and found the same desperado a-sittin’ on my chest, pointing the gun in my face and swearin’ he’d kill me. I yawned a couple of times an’ went off to sleep. About an hour later I woke up and found him still sittin’ there, with the gun at my ear.”

To hear this you’d never think that J. was a quiet-voiced, soft-footed sissy. Of course, you wouldn’t, because he isn’t.

MARY WALLACE MULLEN, 2d., Claymont, Del.

"I ain't afeard uv snakes, or toads, or bugs, or worms, or mice,
An' things 'at girls are skeerd uv I think are awful nice!
I ain't afeard a bit uv men, no matter how they's swearin',
But the only man I ever loved is gone.
His name was Perrin." (P. Myers.)

ELIZABETH BIGGINS OLIVER, Chester, Pa.

Dolly Oliver—A personality.
Physically—Enough for one person,—and some more.
Mentally—Barely enough for required math.,—some more for trills.
Morally—Enough for herself,—some more for Nan, Iva and all the rest.
Socially—Merry as old King Cole,—and his fiddlers three.

ANNA PAULINE KATHARINE OPPENLANDER, Philadelphia, Pa.

SCENE.	SCENE.
Her christening with Fairy Godmothers present.	At College. Results—Sec:
1st Fairy, "She shall be wise."	Miss Gorham's English Class.
2d Fairy, "She shall be good."	Committee of Y. W. C. A.
3d Fairy, "She shall be an actress."	"Lucky '13," and "Tokio Cup."
4th Fairy, "She shall be loved."	Whole college, with emphasis on Tod.
5th Fairy, "She shall dance."	Her memory book.
Bad Fairy, "She shall be a suffragette."	Members of Suffrage League.
7th Fairy, "She shall not look like one."	Above picture.

REBECCA TYLER OSLER,

Pensauken, N. J.

If Suffrage and College Settlement and Consumer's League and beautiful eyes and a very saintly expression lead to halos and wings, Reba may rest on her laurels and give Heaven no second thought.

J. ARTHUR PANCOAST, T A O,

Merchantville, N. J.

If 1913 can boast of nothing else, it has J. Arthur Pancoast, "The Lover." The Acting Drama course would be a flat platitude without him, without his fervent "I love you, Rose," "Jinny, you are the only woman in the world for me." When it comes down to real life, may his practice serve him in good stead.

FRANCIS WILLARD PANCOAST,

Woodstown, N. J.

Fatty Pancoast left us for a year, but the Home Atmosphere of Swarthmore (page 32, College Catalogue) drew him back into our midst. We're glad to welcome him back because he left a pretty big hole in our ranks.

PAUL BENTON PASSMORE,

Butte, Mont.

"I come from Butte, Montana,
And my name is Windy Paul;
A 'putty' good sport with the ladies,
An' I sure can play baseball.
B'lieve me, kid, when I'm started,
B'live me, I'm some clown,
'Tween baseball and the ladies,
I'm the idol of that town."

ANITA PECK,

Riverside, Conn.

"No, I'm not sure I'll come into college, next year. It's really quite homelike at Mrs. Gaskill's, and the meals—well! they taste just like home. Yes! it's true I don't get to see so many people but that's not the idear. It's the courses. I do enjoy them, except when Nearing runs down Taft and Roosevelt. That does make me so mad!"

EARLE STANTON PHILLIPS, Φ Κ Ψ,

Kennett Square, Pa.

Earle is our college poster of Hart, Schaefer and Marx. He doesn't dress for vanity's sake, but is determined Lillian shall hear his suit.

DOROTHY PHILLIPS, K K Γ,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Our Dotty, otherwise known as the artists' model, possesses a molecular attraction generally conceded to be an attribute of the moon. The freshmen are especially susceptible to these drawing qualities and why shouldn't they be attracted?

ELIZABETH JOHNSON PHILLIPS,

Waterford, Va.

For she's had lovers by the score,
A sad coquette is she,
With ten at home and ten out here,
At George School, two or three;
As her classmate I must give advice
Must share her joys and cares,
And so you see what's ageing me
Elizabeth's love affairs.

MARY ELIZABETH PIDGEON,

Wadesville, Va.

Substantial? Well, yes, but she always throws her weight on the right side. The place where Mary shines is helping people. You can always depend on her for a good lift in the right direction. She is rather serious, but then she acts as a balance wheel to her frivolous roommate, Reba Osler.

JOHN STEWART REID, Δ Y,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Jack has had some novel experiences in his various journeyings. He has travelled before the mast, behind the wheel, and, even on the bumpers of a freight car. He has seen everything, from Helen Taft dancing at the Assembly Ball in Washington, to an acrobat throwing the bull in a Mexican arena.

WALLACE WILTBERGER REX,

Churchville, Pa.

Here is our red-headed guardian angel of the gastric auditorium. He is also known as the human alarm clock. If you want to get up early set the "Big Rex" and you'll either get up or get up-set. This is the reason that most people, when they hear him coming, set up and get.

JAMES JACOB SCHOCK, Κ Σ,

Okmulgee, Okla.

A poem found among Jake's papers:—

"I am the great I am; I do it all for Jake;
The college kneels before me, and trembles in my wake.
The faculty does what I say, I lead them by the ear;
My fame is spread o'er all the land, I'm noted far and near.
When e'er I rise to make a speech, when e'er in front I stand,
I feel the girls can't help but say, 'Look Addie, ain't he grand.'"

ADALINE SEMPLE, II Σ,

Wilmington, Del.

A SUPERLATIVE.

The First—Girl in Jake's heart.
The Best—Hostess I ever saw.
The Worst—Fusser on West.
The Most—Polite girl in College.
The Least—Selfish of all Juniors.
The Last—Girl to leave Dean's tea.

MARTHA ADALINE SHARPLES, K K Γ,

West Chester, Pa.

"Walk in Juniors!!"

"Profiles Painlessly Extracted. No charge."

From Sharpy's room strange noises fall on the ear of the hall proctor at almost any hour of the day or night. "Oh wait a minute, that's not the way I look. O—O—Oh! I want to scratch my nose. Don't forget my dimple!" There have been times when she thought she was "losing her art," but a wild spree to the village for a lady lock or a postage stamp brought her back to her irresponsible, happy-go-lucky self again.

CHARLES CARLL SHEPPARD,

Bridgeton, N. J.

To a room full of admiring students:

"Well, I've done pretty good so far in my college career. I've played on the 1913 basket-ball team every year—guess I was highest scorer this year; I've played on the scrub baseball team every year; I've sung tenor on the Glee Club every year, and Pace says I have the best voice in the bunch; but I'd rather dance than anything else, and I guess I must be a pretty good dancer because the girls all say they like to dance with me."

JAMES RUSSELL SNYDER,

Swarthmore, Pa.

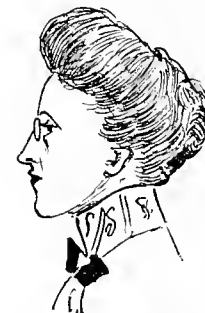

Snyder is chambermaid in the Science Building—first assistant to Joe. He earns his money and our sympathy by having to clean up after Profs. Hoadley and Fussell. It's no wonder he broke his arm, is it?

MARIAN REDFIELD STEARNE,

Philadelphia, Pa.

Marian and Mariott were sitting on a log(arithm) under a (trigono-nome) tree, simultaneously eating pie (Π). She ate an unknown quantity. He ate similar triangles. One had to admit they were co-efficient. When the progression was well under way, he said, "In all probability you do not think a recurring series would be to your interest." She said " Styles are not exclusive events to me." "Well, then," he said, "on the square, if this is infinity, it looks good to me."

GEORGE EDMUND TARBLE,

Martinsville, Ill.

One day George, fresh from the Illinois buckwheat fields, was sight-seeing down Fifth Avenue on top of a motor bus. As a newsboy nimbly side-stepped the swift-moving machine, George rose in terror, hat in hand, fare in his mouth, and shouted: "Look out, you little rube!" The only funny thing blondy sees in this, is that he swallowed the nickle.

NEWTON EDWARD TARBLE, Φ Κ Ψ,

Martinsville, Ill.

Convict No. 7. Pinched for trying to raise a "D" in English, by flirting with his professors. He traces his downfall from the disappointment of working thirty-six hours on an English report and only receiving a D.

We have a Newtrola named Tarble,
Who thought he was there with the warble,
But before he got through,
We all yelled "Phew!"
At the horrible warble from Tarble.

HELEN TATMAN,

Milford, Del.

Helen is very much elated at present because she has been told by a very reliable authority that small dark girls with pug noses are the style this year. Consequently, she has entered upon the occupation of making herself particularly attractive with the same child-like enthusiasm and eagerness that she enters into everything. Just ask her to sing, "Steam Boat Bill, up and down the Mithithippi."

HARRY COLEMAN TILY, JR., Φ Κ Ψ,

Cynwyd, Pa.

What! You never heard of Harry's Diary?
Why, that's what keeps him away from College so much. He's seeing her now, getting new material and inspirations for this diary. If you've never seen it, ask him to show it to you.

JAMES STEPHENS VAN SYCKEL, Δ Y, Trenton, N. J.

Scene: Wharton Hall. Interested group of students (?) surround Foxy Grandpa, cosily ensconced in his Morris chair.

Says he, soberly, looking from under spectacles:

“Listen, my children, and you shall hear
A little story that may sound queer.
I suppose you have noticed in times gone by
For the girls in College I haven't an eye;
But when I was abroad, in naughty Patee,
I spilled the champagne with a dame on each knee.”

DONALD HARPERTSON VAN TRUMP, Φ Κ Ψ, Edgemoor, Del.

A gallant young loafer is Trump,
He get's thrown by exams. with a bump;
But just mention a girl,
And he's off in a whirl;—
To Chester or Morton he'll jump.

CHARLES REX WALL, Κ Σ, Philadelphia, Pa.

In the proof of the Kappa Sigma Chapter picture everyone was good but “Ambition” Wall, and he was somewhat blurred. Someone, looking at the proof, remarked:

“Hully Smokes! I never thought Ambition could move fast enough to blurr a picture.”

JOSEPH SHALLCROSS WEBB, T A O, Swarthmore, Pa.

"The child is father to the man."

Joe—"Say, did you fellows see that splendid smile that girl handed me? She sure is a queen."

"But, remember, my dear child, there's a difference between a smile and a laugh."

MARY WELSH, Π Σ, Rockville, Md.

"Bunny" was a Welsh man:

She had a funny speech,

'Tis thought she'll be a Hart man.

For Ernest calls her "peach."

Editor's Note:—We don't believe in co-educational write-ups, but, well—what can you do?

CATHERINE BOYD WILLIAMS, K A Θ, Philadelphia, Pa.

WANTED.—A girl with dark-brown, curly hair, brown eyes, pretty; looks demure, but isn't; sweet disposition; a favorite with everybody; altogether charming.

(Signed) EDITOR OF "HALCYON."

DEAR EDITOR:—

We have a girl in our class answering your description.

PRES. CLASS OF 1913.

MARTHA MAY WILLIAMS, $\Pi \Sigma$, Sellersville, Pa.

There are people about whom one gives a passing thought.
To Martha in passing one gives at least four.
First, did you ever see such beautiful eyes in your life?
Second, why does her shadow always take on the shape of Mark
Third, now isn't it inconsistent for such a live person to major in Bittle?
a dead language?

Fourth, how many minutes does it take to enunciate, "Hel-lo?"

WILLARD FELL WILLIAMS, $\Phi \Sigma \kappa$, Wilmington, Del.

You've strolled in the brown autumn forests,
Seen the busy, industrious squirrel;
Wild-eyed and nervous and flighty
Tear 'round in a blustering whirl.
You have hark'd to his incessant chatter
As he busily rent nuts in half,
And you've said, "He'd be just like Willard,
If he'd give us that panicky laugh."

ANNA WORRELL, Ogden, Pa.

Dr. Battin says: "She is of the kind that forms the back bone of society as the 'Staff of Life' does of one's menu" (at least here at Swarthmore). Her recipe consists of two parts each of conscientiousness and contentedness, to one part each of ambition and method, with just a few inconsistent "Gees" to make the rest rise a bit to the present American College Girl Standard. The result properly mixed is a very sweet looking girl with wide, innocent childlike eyes and an open trustful face.

KATHARINE LOWER WRAY,

Bellwood, Pa.

Some time ago Katharine thought she wanted to be a nun and live in cloistered seclusion all her life; last year she planned to be a doctor and work down in the shums; then she was going to Wellesley this year, sweet dreams of wisdom haunting her. To-day, just for to-day, she thinks she will come back to Swarthmore and keep a tea-room in the village to suit her æsthetic taste; and when she is through college, perhaps she will continue to do this. Better many ambitions than none, fair scorner of mankind.

FRED GARFIELD YOUNG, T A O,

West Chester, Pa.

At a dance just watch Fred. He can scarcely wait until the music begins. At the first strains of the "grizzly bear" he seizes his partner and whirls off in a mad medley of motion. She follows as best she can, streaming out from under his right arm. Is he on to the "turkey trot"?

Western Swarthmore Club

The Western Swarthmore Club originated in December, 1903, when at an informal dinner about a dozen Swarthmoreans met and organized the Chicago Swarthmore Club. The Chicago Club met for a year or so at irregular intervals, and, having elected Francis E. Broomell to the Secretary and Treasurership, decided to widen its field and offer an annual free scholarship, consisting of board, room and tuition. The Club was then called the Western Swarthmore Club, and its membership increased to upward of sixty graduates in the West. The scholarship is open for competition to all high and preparatory school graduates west of the Allegheny Mountains, and the Club has sent six students through the freshman year, and has been the means of inducing more than twice that number to choose Swarthmore. In this way all the principal high schools in the Middle West hear of Swarthmore every year, and the scholars carry her good name wherever they go. The Western Swarthmore Club has thus proved Swarthmore spirit not by words but by deeds.

Club Scholars

1906-1907—MURAT LOUIS JOHNSON, A.B., 1909, Kentucky.	1909-1910—JAMES JACOB SCHOCK, 1913, Iowa.

Trenton Swarthmore Club

The Trenton Swarthmore Club is an organization of five Swarthmore men located in Trenton, N. J., formed primarily for the purpose of furnishing a scholarship in Swarthmore College to the preparatory schools in Trenton and vicinity.

The organization offers yearly a full, free, competitive, honor scholarship of $400.00, which is awarded to the most worthy male applicant from the neighboring territory, which includes seven of the most prominent preparatory schools within a radius of ten miles.

The requirements of application are based somewhat on those of the Rhodes Scholarship. The purpose of the award is to secure and to induce men from that vicinity to enter Swarthmore, the aim of the committee being to attract and develop all-around men, since no particular stress is given to any one line of activity.

Governing Board

Swarthmore Club of West Jersey

A meeting of Swarthmore graduates and ex-students living in and around Riverton and Moorestown, N. J. was held on the 31st of March, 1911, and the name agreed upon as the "Swarthmore Club of West Jersey." Its purpose is expressed in the following: "We, the subscribers, hereby form ourselves into an association under the name of the 'Swarthmore Club of West Jersey,' for the purpose of promoting the best interests of Swarthmore College. Dated this the 31st day of March, A.D., 1911."

The Joseph Leidy Scientific Society

The Scientific Society was organized in March, 1895, and later received the name of The Joseph Leidy Scientific Society of Swarthmore College. Its object is to keep abreast with the discoveries in the scientific world. There are five sciences included in the work of the association: Astronomy, Biology and Physiography, Chemistry, Engineering, and Physics. The programs of the meetings consist of a report from the instructors in each of the above departments concerning the recent discoveries in their respective sciences. Papers are then read by different members on topics of scientific interest, followed by an open discussion by the Society. The interesting character of these programs is shown by the full attendance at the meetings, from both the College and the borough.

The residents of the borough of Swarthmore are eligible to membership, as well as the students and officers of the College. The meetings are held on the second Third-day evening of alternate months during the College year.

Football

Swarthmore opened the season by playing a no-score game with Delaware and losing the second game to Lafayette by the score of 11 to 5. This was the first time Swarthmore had scored on Lafayette for several years, and indicated that the Garnet team was out to play the game. Nor were Swarthmoreans to be disappointed, for upon this defeat followed a series of six straight victories. The third game, a hard-earned victory over the University of Virginia, was her only defeat during the season. The fourth game, with Stevens, proved an easy victory. We next wiped out the dark defeat of the previous year at the hands of Rutgers by beating her 21 to 0. Then followed hard-fought battles with Ursinus, Lehigh, and Dickinson, all of which resulted in close victories for the Garnet. Swarthmore again ranked among the best college teams on the gridiron.

Only eleven players were granted the "S"; two of these were chosen for the All-State Team, McGovern at guard and Gieg at half-back. Howell at tackle was selected for a place on the third All-State Team.

A great deal of the credit for the success of the season is due to Coach Brooke and to trainer Roth. Next season should be even more successful with Gieg re-elected Captain and with every member of this year's team still in college.

FIVE won, four lost, and one tied is the baseball story for 1911. The defeats, with one exception, came early in the year and before the team struck its stride. The southern training trip was uninteresting save for Geig's home-runs that made him the hero of North Carolina.

The big game with Penn was lost, 3 to 1, but only after a game fight and with that transient thing called "baseball luck" against us. Two defeats came in rapid succession, then the team put their heads together, tightened up each other's belts, and sailed in. Four victories out of the next five games shows the speed at which they sailed. The defeat was a desperate twelve-inning affair that was a much better game than our first victory. These last triumphs turned the season from a frost to a success, and changed our opinion of their gameness.

For 1912 we lose the old war-horses, Captain Gaskill, Ex-Captain Wickham, and the grizzled veteran, Boughton. Albert Baker, '13, has been elected to lead the team; the buckwheat battery, Newt and George, will be back; the slugger Gieg and the strong-armed Gilly will again be at the corners of the diamond, so you can't blame us for feeling confident about the season.

LACROSSE

B WARTHMORE opened the season last spring by defeating the New York Lacrosse Club. Things looked as though we were again going to have a championship team, especially after the defeat of the invincible Crescent Athletic Club's team on their own grounds. But our hopes were dashed when our old rivals, Johns Hopkins, won the third game from us in the last five minutes of play after we had been leading them all the way. A few days later the Navy handed us another defeat, which shut out all of our chances for the championship. However, the Garnet players were not to be put down all around, and so they won the next two games, which were with Lehigh and Stevens. In the two final games the Indians and Mt. Washington won out.

The schedule for this year consists of games with the best teams in the country. With a nucleus of the old players back and many candidates for the vacancies, Coach L. A. Whitehead, of Toronto, will probably be able to develop another championship team.

CERTAINLY no college in the country can dispute the claim of this team to the championship. Our quintet was a perfect machine, each part being as strong as every other. The Army gave us the worst scare of the season when they forced us to an extra period to beat them. We had heard much of the strength of the Navy, but we beat her on her own floor, 27 to 19, a thing that no other team has been able to do for three years. State gave us the usual exciting game, but we won out in the last minute of play. The big game of the season was at Pennsylvania, and 32 to 11 shows what we did to her. This was our fourth consecutive basketball victory over Pennsylvania.

Captain Smith deserves all kinds of credit for his work on Swarthmore's basketball teams. He has played in every game for four years, and has captained the team for the last two years. Gilechrist, recognized as the best center and foul-shooter in the country, finished his basketball career with a perfect foul-shooting record in the Pittsburgh game, when he caged twelve out of twelve from the foul line. Mitchell's lightning floor-work and aggressiveness were big factors in the team work. Gieg astounded every audience by his wonderful breaking up of opponent's passes and by his sensational shooting. Baker was the highest scorer on the team, while his opponents scored but one goal on him the whole season. There is no doubt that this was the fastest quintet that Swarthmore has ever had.

LAST year's track team did not make what would at first appear to be a very enviable record. The indoor relay team made a good start by defeating the University of Pennsylvania's team in a 2,000-yard race.

At Lafayette the track team was defeated in a snow storm and on an exceedingly heavy track. At State, Bradford and the other distance men were out of condition owing to the long trip and poor food. The stars of this meet were Murfit and Hess. Together they took both places in the hundred and two-twenty. Murfit ran the hundred in ten flat. We won our only home meet, that with Lehigh, by the score of 58 to 43.

Most unfortunate of all was our event at the Penn Relays. Lutz's fall has become a part of the college history. Considering the time of this race (3.29 2-5) in which we finished second, it would be no mistake to say that this team would easily have broken the college record had it not been for this mishap. This was undoubtedly the fastest quartet that Swarthmore has ever had.

In spite of the loss of Hess, Murfit, Bradford, Eberle and Holme, the prospects for this year's team are good. In the first relay of this season, the indoor team succeeded in defeating the Carlisle Indians at Washington. However, they were forced to trail the fleet-footed quartet from Fordham, both at the Columbia meet in New York and at the Booster meet in Trenton.

Manager Sharples has arranged an exceptionally fine schedule, and Captain Gillam looks forward to a successful season on the cinder track.

BIG STRIKE

Shops Close, Troops Called Out
EMPLOYERS OBDURATE

(Special telegram to the Friends' Yellow Journal.)

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE, SWARTHMORE, PA.

—The entire force of artisans employed in the Swarthmore Shops went out on strike at noon to-day when their employers refused to grant them their demands for shorter hours. Their complaints are, furthermore, that they do not receive enough credit for the work done and that they will labor no longer under the inconvenience of having six buttons on their overalls, whereas all other workers have eight. If this last clause is denied, they demand as an alternative that their union be officially recognized by the permission to wear union suits in and around the shops.

William Penn Lukens, the chief agitator and instigator of the revolt, when interviewed by our special correspondent to-day, said:

"The union will face the whole world undivided upon this last clause."

TERRIBLE CONDITIONS!

UNEARTHED WITHIN A BISCUIT'S
THROW OF PARRISH.

Dr. Scott Nearing, the noted slum sleuth, has just made a startling report concerning the condition in the dormitories of Swarthmore College. That it is impossible for the wretched inhabitants of Wharton Hall to maintain efficiency in their present squalid and congested conditions, is the gist of a harrowing report submitted to Miss Meeteer by the noted bowery authority. He has just returned from an intimate and thorough investigation of the district, having found wild disorder and great confusion.

In one instance he found twelve large men crowded into one room, 4 x 3 $\frac{3}{8}$ size. Eight were piled on one tiny couch, four huddled on a rickety Morris chair, and the other six were compelled to rest on the radiators. The air was intolerable due to clouds of vile tobacco smoke, and the floor was littered with cigarette stubs and ashes. The only food in evidence was a box of "Marshmallow Dainties." Although it was past midnight, sleep was impossible on account of the ribald song and laughter.

In another room he found two wretched

BREAKS INTO PARRISH

PROFESSOR GOES NIGHT-WALKING.

(Special to the Friends' Yellow Journal.)

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE, SWARTHMORE, PA.

—Parrish West Wing was the scene of a unique disturbance last night. It was shortly after the lights went out that the girls in number 204 heard an unusual scraping and grating under their window. Visions of night-walkers or midnight elopements flashed into their minds. The elder girl, a beautiful maid of twenty-odd summers, was very much wrought up over the affair, and was thinking of calling "Father Time" to the rescue. The younger girl wanted to call the President of the Student Government to look into the affair. During all of this time the strange noise below was becoming louder and more insistent. Surely someone had opened a window. Both girls leaned over the ledge, breathless with excitement.

"Say," yelled the elder one, softly.

"Huh?" squeaked a man's voice, and the bright moon shone softly on the face of "Benjy" Battin. Under his arm could be seen in the moonlight the Official College Calendar.

CO-EDS FIGHT FIRE AT SWARTHMORE

Entire Student Body Turns out to Extinguish Flames Threatening College Buildings.

(From "The Evening Bulletin.")

The entire student body of Swarthmore College, including the co-eds, turned out this afternoon to fight a fire in the woods back of Wharton Hall, the men's dormitory, which for a while threatened several college buildings.

After an hour's hard work the flames were extinguished, the blaze having advanced to within a few yards of the "dorm." The excellent work of the students and the fact that little wind was blowing, alone saved part of the college from destruction.

It is supposed that a spark from a locomotive set fire to the dried leaves with which the wood-land back of the college is plentifully covered. The blaze was discovered by a student in Wharton Hall just after luncheon had started. He hurried over to the dining-room and gave the alarm.

The undergraduates were immediately dismissed from the dining hall and the fire brigade called together. Some of the men attacked the blazing leaves with sticks, while others, assisted by the young women of the institution, formed a bucket line and carried water from the college buildings to the scene of the fire.

Professor R. W. Marriott and W. A. Alexander, the registrar, led the fire fighters. The dry leaves burned fiercely, and it was only after the hardest kind of a battle that the flames were checked. Several trees in the woods caught fire from the burning leaves.

Last fall a fire occurred in the same locality on the campus, but was not as serious as the one to-day. The work of the student body was commended by President Swain, who also praised the efficiency of the special fire brigade.

BIG STRIKE, SHOPS CLOSED

General Manager B. S. Potter said:

"We are willing to grant the men shorter hours and more credit, but we cannot afford the two extra buttons."

When a committee from the strikers called upon Mr. Potter to present the alternative to the button demand, he took them aside and attempted to show them its disadvantages. They were, however, obdurate, and retired from the building. While they were within, an angry mob had collected and were casting angry glances at the bosses and throwing fits at the windows. Sympathizers who gathered in troops, called out such patriotic sentiments as "The Union Forever" and "United we work, divided we quit."

FRESHMAN:—Say, is that reception parlor open to the public after supper?

JUNIOR:—No little one, only for those invited to the daily Phi Psi house party.

TESTIMONIALS.

"Knowing 'that nobody loves a fat man,' I was almost in despair until I began to use your cure," writes Tom McCabe.

From Cornelia Lounsbury the following was received: "In two weeks I lost 59 pounds. Now I am able to climb to the fourth floor with ease."

"Until I tried your harmless antidote, I was in the depths of despondency. Deprived of it, I should abandon all hope of acquiring a sylph-like figure," writes the younger daughter of Judge Fitch.

Margaret Clifford writes: "I have had supernatural results with your 'Obesity' remedy."

"While in Paris the past summer," writes Mr. VanSyckel, "I should have been socially ostracized had not a friend advised the use of your magic fat dispeller."

"No longer have I need to weep over the long, slender lines prevalent in the modes of to-day. Your wonderful discovery has brought me hope and joy," is the essence of a grateful letter from Sara Webster.

THE EVENING STORY

AN OLD TALE RE-TOLD.

Johnny Jones and Susie Smith loved with all the pent-up ardor of eight and six long summers respectively. Love burned very bright in these soul mates. They met in the morning with a happy kiss, they parted at night with a long oscillation. He dreamed of her, she murmured his name in her sleep. They deserted the crowds of playful children, and sat in oblivious rapture entwined in each other's arms in all the deep comprehension of love that comes with a first "case." They heeded not the scornful yells of their school-mates. They only sat on the garbage can and built castles in the air. He waited with intense longing outside her school-room door, for the flash of her little plaid skirt which told him that she was free to come to his arms. He learned to distinguish her garment of brilliant rainbow hue the length of the street, and Johnny, the artistic, fell for her once and from thence onward she wore naught else but plaid. He would press the hem of her vari-colored garment to his lips and murmur sweet words of adoration.

Then the blow that falls upon all true hearts fell. Katie Blitz, clad in a weirdly-fascinating robe of yellow moved into the street, and Johnny, the artistic fell for the siren. The color scheme of Katie and her oriental garment of saffron completely eclipsed the little highland plaid skirt of Susie. Susie fled to her home in sorrow, gently took off the little plaid skirt and used it as a mop for the fast-falling tears.

Johnny Jones soon moved away, but Susie cherished in her heart the short, sweet romance, and oft drew the little plaid skirt from its resting place and wept upon it as she thought of the cruel jilting of Johnny Jones.

Forty years passed, and Susie had grown to be a big girl now, but she remained unmarried. Her heart had broken in that cruel hour of her desertion. One day Mr. John Jones returned to visit old friends. He called Miss Susan Smith on the phone, and asked to be allowed to come around. She coldly said "Yes."

John remembered, ah! too well, that street and number as he stepped up and rang the bell. Slowly steps approached the door from within. It swung open. John stared long, a cry of shame and self-reproach burst from his lips, and he staggered in remorse. For there in the doorway stood Susie Smith, clad in that, yes, clad in that little plaid skirt she had worn forty years before.

"I couldn't sleep," he whispered. "I told the committee there was a function scheduled for Seventh-day evening, but—I must have dreamed, it wasn't on the calendar. So I came to see. The function is scheduled; it's all right. I can sleep now." His voice trailed away in the stillness of the night.

The inmates of 204 giggled.

BIG DAY COMING FOR HORSEMEN

Ponies to Close Season on Whittier Field.

The annual Derby on the Whittier Track has been scheduled for next Saturday afternoon. All classes are entered, and, judging from the entries, the spectators can expect to witness some very interesting running matches.

"Buck" Howell, the noted trainer from Indiana, has entered a clean-limbed horse, "Fergy," in the All-Swarthmore steeplechase. Among the other entries in this event are "Amy B.," "Dutch(ess)" and "Avis," all of which have given creditable performances in the past. "Amy B." is the favorite. The winner carries the stake.

Young Smith has entered his sorrel "T. R.," who will run with "Sweet Mary" for the Beef stake. In the two-year-old event, the favorite, Strang's gelding "Rush-boy" will run against "Hyland," while the little filly from Kansas will no doubt force them to their limit. "Betty Plum," the Atlantic City trotter, is booked to run with an unknown. With all these familiar names on the lists, the meet on Saturday should be the classiest of the season for real sports.

All the seats have been sold, but the management feels confident in saying that at a meet like this nobody sits down. Even the judges' stand.

Ed.—What made Clime go to church on Sunday night?

Co-ED.—He heard that the Pughs were reserved for college men.

LOST AND FOUND.

(12 words or less, 30c.; additional words, 2c.)

LOST—Under peculiar circumstances, a pair of lady's eyes. Cast upon a gentleman who duly appreciated them but failed to return. Articles mentioned priceless to owner, but useless to others. No questions asked if returned. Address Miss G—, English Dep't., Swarthmore College.

LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN—My favorite pupil, Miss Blank; has been absent for three consecutive days from my class without adequate reason. Valueless to others, but invaluable to the success of my jokes. Large reward for her return. Address, Dr. Goddard, College.

LOST—My former tact. A suitable reward to the person giving information leading to its recovery. Address, Miss Meeteer, College.

FOUND—In my room, divers and sundry articles belonging presumably to divers and sundry people. Owners may have the same by paying storage. In the future please do not loan me things. Address, Natalie Turner, College.

LOST—All clues as to the perpetrator of the above dastardly deed. Finder will be amply rewarded by being allowed to witness our awful revenge. Address, Room A-2-2, Wharton Hall.

LOST—My nerve; deserted me on February 21. Public is earnestly requested to cooperate with the plans of the owner for its recovery. Signed, "Prexy" Swain.

WEATHER REPORT

OFFICIAL FORECAST.

SWARTHMORE COLLEGE, PA.—Fair weather from the third week in September to third week in January. Fourth week in January: foggy, with frequent showers, followed by rain and foul weather; generally disagreeable winds prevailing. Fair weather from the first of February until the first of June, with the exception of a few thunderstorms the last week in March. First week in June: conditions similar to the last week in January, but much more violent.

DEATHS.

DR. GODDARD'S SENSE OF HUMOR.—Physician's attribute death to overwork. All those acquainted with the deceased are invited to attend the obsequies.

TABLE PROBLEM.—Died a natural death. Resurrection will occur next year, if not before. All arrangements are in charge of the girls of the College.

ECONOMICS EXAM.—Killed suddenly—an elementary economics exam. Stabbed from the rear. Interment in charge of Robinson and Swain. Please omit flowers.

MISS MEETEER'S SMILE.—Cause, run-down condition, followed by complete exhaustion, due to overwork for the past five years.

ALL STUDENTS OF COLLEGE.—Died in 1912, slowly and painfully from over-feeding. Board of Managers requested to attend funeral. Too late for flowers.

BACK ROWS OF ZOOLOGY CLASS.—Died gallantly aiding their companions, the three back rows of boys in Dr. Trotter's zoölogy class. Corpses await identification in Dean's parlor. Please hurry. If not called for in five days, bodies will be returned to Dr. Trotter.

Diary of a Feted Freshman

College is gloriously thrilling. I woke up this morning and stared at the yellow-painted walls—I was awful tired after that heavenly dance last night—but if I didn't get up for breakfast I might miss sitting next to L—, who is surely the nicest boy at our table. Of course, I can't help seeing, even if I am a freshman, that he is more interested in me than in that proper "Prunes and Prisms" senior at our table. He says that I haven't lost my school-girl foolishness, and that I mustn't lose it because it is so refreshing after the learned airs of most of the girls out here. And he likes me to wear a pink bow in my hair and that huge white hat. Every afternoon I put it on and walk down the asphaltum when he is playing baseball on the front campus. He says most of the girls are not flossy enough for him—anyway those that criticize are merely jealous. Imagine "Prunes and Prisms" trying to be flossy. I couldn't help laughing when I tried my big hat on her the other day;—she just put her nose up in the air and tried not to look envious of my fluffy prettiness.

Oh that dance last night—! It was simply divine! There never were so many good-looking, attractive men in one college before. I can't decide whether I like an athlete, like "Al" Baker, or a polished man of the world, like "Phil" Carpenter. They both have their good points, you know. When I think I've only been in college two months, and think of all the conquests I've made—why I wonder if I can get through this year without being engaged.

Sometimes I think they don't mean everything they say. But their eyes are so honest—and I am irresistible (I know they mean that because so many men have told me so), especially when I wear that new pink evening frock.

My lessons are horribly uninteresting,—except in one class I sit next to a man with the most fascinating profile I ever saw. Why often I just can't hear what "Ducky" says—anyway I know enough now.

The seniors say that I'll learn. I don't want to.

beings making pitiful efforts to sleep in a single bed. Riley Bressler, the unfortunate one, who was wedged between his shivering bed-fellow and the wall, when interviewed, smiled pathetically and told of being compelled nightly to act as foot-warmer for the cold, cold feet of "Fat" McGovern. No food was in evidence in this room. In another section he visited the so-called suites, "but they didn't smell like it," he testifies. Every man he met claimed to have a wife, and some said they had two, but in no instance were they found to be at home.

Dr. Nearing concludes his report by saying that the only encouraging thing to be found in the whole system was the efforts of a young sister of charity, who has devoted her whole life to the maintainance of a free hospital for those who fall beneath the terrible grind of toil.

A REMINISCENCE

It was in those good old days when the boys still roomed on Fourth Hall Parrish. Joe Brown was a very bashful freshman who, because he was a day-student, had never been up to the boys' rooms. One day a burly sophomore gave him two suit-cases and ordered him to take them to Frank Hamilton's room. Joe asked the first friendly freshman he met where Hamilton roomed. "Up on West," said the freshman. Joe, thinking himself pretty well versed in the points of the compass, proceeded to climb the West steps, bending under the weight of the two heavy suit-cases. Arriving on the second floor, fatigued from the ascent, and not seeing anyone to offer information, Joe pushed through the swinging doors. He continued to the end of the hall, but still he saw no one. So he set down those two suit-cases, made up his mind, after much deliberation, just what he was going to say, then knocked feebly on the door in front of him. "Come in," called a girl's cheery voice, but Joe was not cheered, nor did he "come in." He was petrified. In a moment the door was flung open, and a girl clad in a flowing kimona appeared in the door-way. Joe had decided what he was going to say, and in his embarrassment he blurted out, "Is Frank Hamilton in there?"

HOW TO SPEND THE ENDOWMENT

Now that the College has completed the $100,000 endowment fund, a still greater problem confronts the managers,—how can we spend the endowment to the best advantage? Probably the opinions of a few prominent Swarthmoreans, all of whom are interested solely in the welfare of the College and have been active in its best interests, will help them in the solution of this momentous problem:

"Purchase a patent co-operator," proposes Dr. Swain.

"Bet it on the Penn game," suggests Houston.

"I would take it, sit down, and then just Ad(d)," says Jake.

"Get a delicately adjusted Oxometer for Collection."—Rush.

"Supply the 'Prudent Police' with uniforms," proposes G. Tarble.

"Put pool tables in the basement so that we could cool off after the day's work," says Delaplaine.

"Whatever Nan says,"—Eberle.

"Mount the Chief of Exec. on a tricycle," suggests Wells.

"Build an express trolley line from Parish to Media, with a flag station at Wharton," dreams Nan.

"Yes, suh! I'd get a mellion quots ur gin, put it in de cellah: den gib meself de job u' hittin' dem da wattah pipes wid a wrench so de boys ud think dey was gittin' heat," says Horace Tilman.

ETHICAL PROBLEMS.

To the Editor of THE FRIENDS' YELLOW JOURNAL:

We are two young ladies of sixteen and seventeen summers, respectively. Our friends, especially our gentlemen friends (we refer you to "Ducky" Brown and Roger Owings), consider us good-looking. We have large soulful eyes and Pompeian

Cream complexions. Believing that there is safety in numbers,

I. How can we obtain the admiration and followings, i. e., the fussings, of certain young men in this vicinity?

II. Are we doing right by rolling our eyes?

III. Are large bows of ribbon worn on us stylish?

IV. Can you prophesy engagement before our senior year? Two Co-EDS.

(I) There is safety in numbers, but remember that it is not she who courts attention that gets it. (II) When skipping over the feet that protrude from the pet, do not wink at the owners. (III) No; they are conspicuous. (IV) We refer you to Miss Lukens.

To the Editor of THE FRIENDS' YELLOW JOURNAL:

What is the pet? At home our pet is a cat, but I don't see any cats here. Thanking you, I am
E. Z. STUFFED.

The pet, dear reader, is a tufted setter over which hangs a beautifully-engraved mirror. The pet is a resting place for tired males who pass cute remarks and jokes about each girl that passes. Each man tries hard to show his room-mate's socks by sticking his feet out as far as possible. Don't try to pass until your second year of gym. Climb along the ledge outside of the English room. It is far easier.

To the Editor of THE FRIENDS' YELLOW JOURNAL:

Henry Wilbur said, in a recent speech, "get acquainted with Horace." Since then I have been cultivating his acquaintance in halls, on the way to the library, at lectures, etc. Am I going about this in the right way and can you prophesy the results?

WOULD B. SOCIABLE.

You misunderstood the meaning of Mr. Wilbur's remark. He did not refer to Horace Jenkins, but to Horace Tilman, in which case I might say that you are too late. He has just married the telephone operator.

To the Editor of THE FRIENDS' YELLOW JOURNAL:

I am a very bashful young man, but would like to have the ease and assurance and grace of manner that characterizes the other young men of my college. How can I acquire it?

"PETE" HUNTER.

We would advise that you follow Mr. Jack Raymond or Mr. Oliver Shepard in all details of etiquette and grace. They both dance the "Turkey Trot," the "Grizzly Bear," and other late and elegant productions of the terpsichorean art. Moreover, we should say that they are seldom embarrassed by bashfulness.

MISS BLACKSTONE:—"Oh, Mr. Coogan, it must have been charming—and did you kiss the Blarney stone when you were in Ireland?"

MR. COOGAN:—(Coyly) "No; but there's another—stone I'd lot's rather kiss."

Swarthmore College vs. Plush Mills Athletic Association

A team composed of the young men from the Dunbar dormitories out-shone the Plush Mills team on Abolitionist Field last Saturday afternoon by the score of 7 to 11. Our team was captained by the veteran, Horace Tilman, of Chester fame, who is universally recognized as the All-African drawback.

The game was scheduled to start at 11.30, but was delayed until 12 o'clock by the shiny quarter-back, Ed. Adams, who was waiting to make the bed of the sleeping Prince. At the end of the fifth period the score stood 7 to 1 in favor of the Plush Mills thirteen. At this zoölogical moment, a cloud "Bust" flooded the griddle iron. Bravely the combatants swam against the currents. Many were the fierce diving tackles that were made.

The Plush Mills, with their 7 to 1 lead, were coming along swimmingly. Then suddenly the tide turned and a wave of enthusiasm swept over our boys. "Shorty" fished the ball out, skirted right end, dived through the opponents' line and swam under water to the home goal, the similarity of color between the muddy water and the squirming form of our little hero adding materially to his elusiveness.

Time and again this was repeated, until the score rose from 7 to 11. The Plush Mills' yell of "Do or die" was drowned by the lusty answer "Go home and dye." At the close of the game, when the lifeboat had gathered in all of the players, no whiskey voice answered to the name of Horace Tilman. Although for hours they toiled tirelessly and faithfully they are unable to fish the body of their hero from the briuy deep. It was not until two days later that Jack Waters found his body cast upon the steps of that same old meeting-house that he had swept off so often.

Dormitory Ditties

A collection of poems portraying things doing, undoing, and done at Swarthmore College,

GOING TO MEETING

GOING TO BREAKFAST

The Golden Hours

When the steam pipes drip, and the lights go out,

And the room is wet and chill,

And we all feel blue, and there's work to do,

And the dark, dank Dorm is still,

We swear at our luck as we shiver in bed,

All the gloom in the world is ours,

For the pipes are froze and we lack bed clothes.

Ah! These are the golden hours.

We all say things that should not be said,

When the spuds come on each day,

For the things that are said when we get stale bread

The Dean would never say,

And we talk of fish and our love for beans—

All the hunger on Earth is ours

When we get sour-kraut, then our souls speak out.

Ah! These are the golden hours.

Shakespeare's Othello

or "How Lewis Passed His English"

After spending the night immersed in Kipling, W. Oglesby Soyars, the Demosthenes of the South, arose, and addressing the bust of Henry Clay, orated the following:

“ Upon the steps of Parrish porch,
When twilight dims the sky,
I sit me down and watch—alas—
The fussers passing by.

“ The moon-beams softly kiss the girls
Who scorn to walk with Bill;
Suffering Tom-cats—can this be
The moon of Hopkinsville?

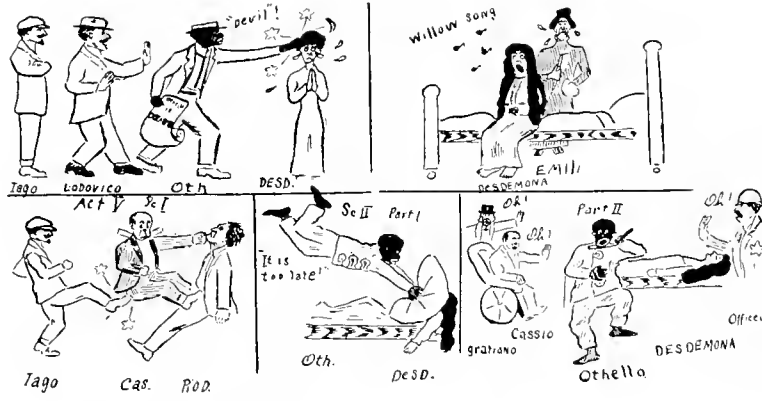

“ Ah, shade of little Kitty Smith,
The Queen of Old Kaintuck;
Say, was it ever thus at home
The moon gave me such luck?

“ With her arm upon my shoulder an’
’Er cheek agin’ my cheek
We uster watch the moon-beams
Ripplin’ up and down the creek.

“ Tho’ I chat with fifty Co-eds
In this God-forsaken land
And they talk a lot of lovin’,
But what do they understand?

“ Prudish face and chilly hand,
Heck! Wot do they understand?
I’ve a neater, sweeter maiden in a cleaner, greener land
On the road to Hopkinsville,
Where the nights are hushed and still,
And the mocking-birds a-singing,
On the road to Hopkinsville.

“ I may talk o’ gin an’ beer
To these Molly-coddles here,
And of stringin’ up four niggers on a tree;
But for all my tough old hide
I’m white, clear white, inside.
So hark to my lay
As all of you may,
And learn about women from me.”

Young Swarthmore Freshman

Now all of you Freshmen that sign up to-day
Just put up your blue cards and hark to my lay,
And I'll make you a student (?) as far as I may,
A student that's fit for old Swarthmore.

Now the worst of your foes is the Soph overhead,
And you must wear your red cap for all that is said,
If he finds you uncovered to the Crum you will tread
And be ducked like a fool of a Freshman.

When you wait for the Sophomores that first Poster night,
And you don't know what's comin', and your leader looks white,
Just make up your mind that you'll put up a fight
That'll make 'em forget you're a Freshman.

Now if you'd go fussing, take care she can dance,
Get a beautiful Junior with amorous glance,
But stick to that two-step, no new-fangled dance,
For droppin' ain't good for a Freshman.

The Teachers

WITH APOLOGIES TO "THE LADIES"

I've took college life as I've found it,
I've bluffed and I've worked in my time,
I've had my pick of professors,
An' four of the lot was prime.
One bullied me as a Freshman,
One was an F. F. V.,
One was a sputter-faced Dutchman,
An' one knocked me out with an "E."

When I entered here as a Freshman,
Shy as a girl to begin,
Alleman cursed me out roundly
With a growl that was grouchy as sin;
Fiercer he was than the others,
He told me my chances were slim,
But I found that this huff was only a bluff—
And I learned about teachers from him.

“Lucky Thirteen”

Then I went up to see Sparrow
To taste of his fierce English 4,
And he cut me with bitter sarcasm
The minute I stepped thru the door;
Snippy and bitter and biting,
Great head for a body so slim;
To show off his wit each paper he hit—
And I learned about teachers from him.

Then I bumped into bristling Benny,
His voice like a kid of sixteen,
Who always while teaching his classes
Was making new rules for the Dean;

The student exec was his nightmare,
He fought all our joys with a vim;
If he'd hear of a dance, he'd rear up and prance—
And I learned about teachers from him.

And then I was kicked out of Swarthmore,
Or I might have been loafing there still;
'Twas the day we returned from vacation
Chuck full of the holiday thrill—
Robby sprung an exam and I flunked it,
I admit that my answers were dim,
But the very next morning, I left without warning—
And I learned about teachers from him.

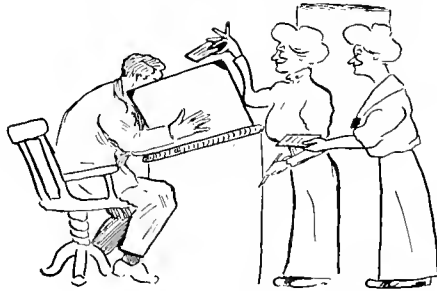

So the end of it's sittin' and thinkin'
And dreamin' of days that can't be,
So be warned by my lot, which I know you will not—
And learn about teachers from me.

The Battle of Waterloo

It was in the Spring exam week
That the Dorms began the fight
That started in right after lunch
And lasted until night.
It started with a tooth brush,
Flipped by a Freshman rash.
Then shaving mugs and trophy cups
Joined in with gleeful splash,
Till some John got a bucket
And his neighbor got the hose,
Then they cleared the halls for action
And stripped to underclothes.
The hose went into one Stude's door—
His chairs swept down the hall,
The stairs were a-splash
With his drifted trash
Like a freshet waterfall.
Then out from Smokeless Wharton Hall
This legion took their hose;
Tom Taylor led the counter-charge
Clad in his birth-day clothes,

For the fire-hose to the naked man
Is like lightning to the rock,
He cares not for its drenching spray,
Its full-force stream or shock;
And out from door and window came
Old Wharton's naked bands,
With pumps and hose upon their feet
And buckets in their hands.
They all charged with an object,
Their purpose was to tear
Up into shreds and tatters
Their assailants' underwear.
The Court was full of writhing men
And echoed with their blows,
While out of the tangled struggling mass
The muffled cuss-words rose.
Miss Coles jerked down her window-shade,
Julia Alice screamed with fright,
But the legs and arms in the court-yard
Had just begun to fight.

Ode to the Pet

You may hev set in Morris chairs
And thot 'em hard to beat :
You may hev set on grand divans,
With a cushion 'neath your feet ;

You may hev set on a golden throne
And thot it the best thing yet ;
But you never know'd what settin' was
Till you tried the Swarthmore Pet.

The Fusser's Train

Every Sunday afternoon,
In sunshine or in rain,
You'll find an eager crowd of folks
That take the "Fusser's Train."

Perhaps they go to Media,
From there they walk to Chester,
And often in the ranks you'll find
A freshman girl named Esther.

Don't think this joy a stolen sweet,
For I have asked "Ede" Swayne
And she agrees it's quite the thing
To take the "Fusser's Train."

The Faculty Poker Game

Now, Doc Hull, he'd play poker,
And he'd hold four aces, too;
With his smiling, courtier grace
He'd clean you thru and thru.

Now Benny, in about three hands,
Would make an awful scene;
He'd throw the cards and yell—
“ You cheat! I'll go and tell the Dean.”

Now Pearson's there with actin',
You all know how he'd play;
He'd sweep the board with a pair of twos
In his flowing, melodious way.

Now Goddard would gurgle and giggle,
He'd pun and forget when to play.
He'd fall for most any old bluffer,
If he had an original way.

Doc Miller thinks he'd run a bluff
And fool the whole blamed band;
He'd cock his head and frown and nod—
But the players would understand.

Our Prexy wouldn't play at all,
But in his smiling way
He'd only hover round the board
And watch the others play.

It's the cards are the exams, boys,
The chips are me and you.
The profs they stack and shift us round
And call us red or blue,

On the Trail of the Lonesome "A"

I'm out on a chase, and I'm urging my steed
O'er the hills at break of day,
 To the mid-night's bell I give small heed,
Still merciless, taxing my pony's speed,
 On the trail of the lonesome "A."

I achieved some note in my Freshman days,
Once gathered a number of "B's,"
 But the home-folks regard with great dismay
The fatally, frequent, facile way
 I've cradled the "C's" and "D's."

Now since of brains there seems a dearth,
I must tackle some other way,
 At Doc G's jokes I must chuckle with mirth,
Prof. P must infer that he owns the earth
 While I'm chasing the lonesome "A."

Instead of five feet, I've read a mile,
For Ducky's counsel I humbly pray;
 I'll take a front seat and blandly smile,
For each Prof's weakness I'll find a wile
 On the trail of the lonesome "A."

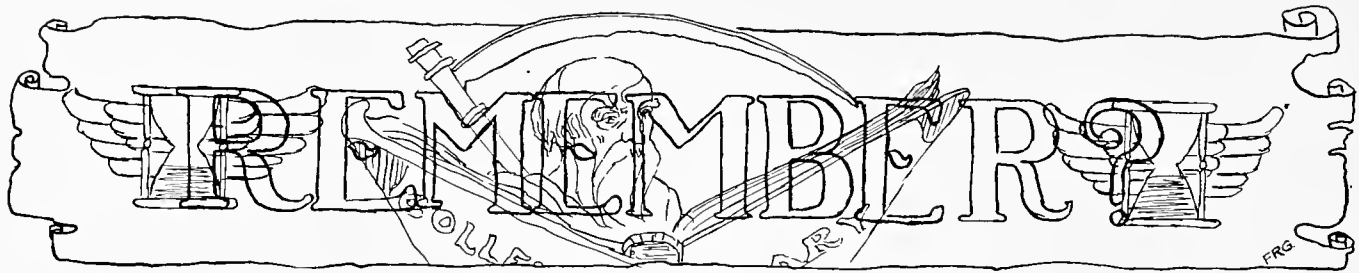

Ode to the Pet

- (1) Tasks now are o'er,
 What care have we?
 Happy and free
Nothing can fret,
Trouble no more;
 Sorrows disperse,
 Deep joys immerse
Here on the Pet.
- (2) If you could hear,
 Dingy old seat,
 Would it be meet
That you should tell?
Quick, stuff your ear
 Lest you be near
 Something, my dear,
You'd not dare spell.
- (3) Many a night,
 Bright on your glass,
 More than one lass
Reflected, has shown.
Laughter rings light,
 Longer we wait,
 Some one is late:
Soon all are gone.
- (4) Outside in the wet
 Wind rages mad,
 Why then be sad?
Joy lingers near,
While on the Pet,
 Brimful of fun,
 Many a one
Scatters vain fear.
- (5) Come, let's be gay,
 Boys, as we sit
 Flashing our wit
Keen as a dart.
Others will stay
 When we are met
 No more at the Pet
Happy at heart.
- (6) Old leather seat,
 Friend to us all,
 We'll heed your call
Oft, as of yore.
Watch may you keep,
 There in the hall,
 To welcome us all
Back to Swarthmore.

L'Endoi

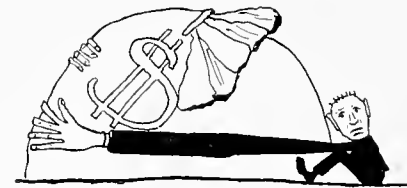

When the last long final is over and the text-books are thrown away,
And our days in Wharton are over, days full of rollicking play,
And our trunks have gone down to the station, and our rooms are dismantled and bare—
We shall long for the songs in the evening and the pipe in the deep Morris chair.

And the fights and the smashing rough-houses will be but fond dreams of the past:
All our hardships will seem robed in glory when we think that this day is our last.
When last Summer made us all Seniors, with light hearts we welcomed it then,
But now that it's over and ended—why can't we start over again?

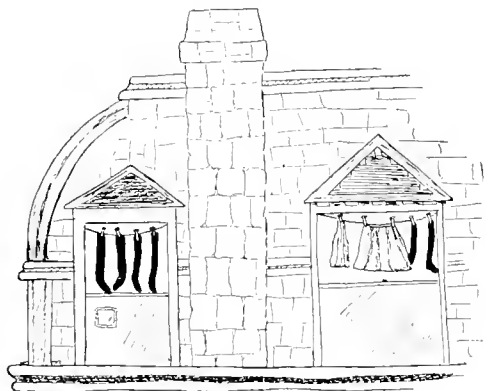

- May 13. We decide to keep a diary. Lacrosse: Swarthmore, 6; Lehigh, 4.
16. First 1913 HALCYON meeting. Hush, you noisy boys!
17. Endowment clock hoisted on Parrish.
18. Menagerie of blanket-swathed lions loose on Parrish porch. Annapolis beats up the tennis team, 4 to 2.
19. Japanese garden of Eden appears next door to the menagerie. Hot! Everybody anxious for to-morrow. 396 prayers for clear weather.
20. CARNIVAL DAY. Great success. Only cloud, the 1912 Er-Omh-Traws. Cover so poor, we looked no further. Steve, as Bureau of Information and Chief Guide, kept the crowds quiet and peaceful through

Lucky '13. Antigone, and Midsummer Night's Dream. John Rustling Straw leads the Canned Berry Pilgrims a graceful trot three times around the campus. Track: Swarthmore, 53; Lehigh, 48. Lacrosse: Swarthmore, 3; Indians, 6. Baseball: Swarthmore, 6; Albright, 5 (12 innings). The hand on the endowment clock gets dizzy. The chimes ring out 11.30 P.M. Miss Lukens, peering into the darkness beyond the lighted rectangle, "I wonder if every one of them is in."

May 21. Fussers' special to Wawa crowded. Carnival evening and spring weather show their effects.

22. Hot. Wash day. Big water fight between Old and New Wharton. Big flood. Alec sore.

23. Crowd in post-office. Phoenix night.

24. Ivy planting.

25. Four Freshmen are seen going to their picnic with six chaperones.

26. Tank painted. K Σ dance.

May 30. Decoration Day. Clock looks good. Only $25,000 more needed. Girls disturb Wharton study hour. Louie, the newsboy, appears.

31. Rainy. Evening fussers camp under portico.

June 1. Circus tent pitched on front campus. Too bad, but the lions went back to the jungle long ago.

2. Δ Y party. Delly seen carrying a guitar or a shovel.

3. Senior luncheon and dance at Strath Haven.

Sept. 19. First college meal. Same old story. Everybody happy, though, even the Freshmen.

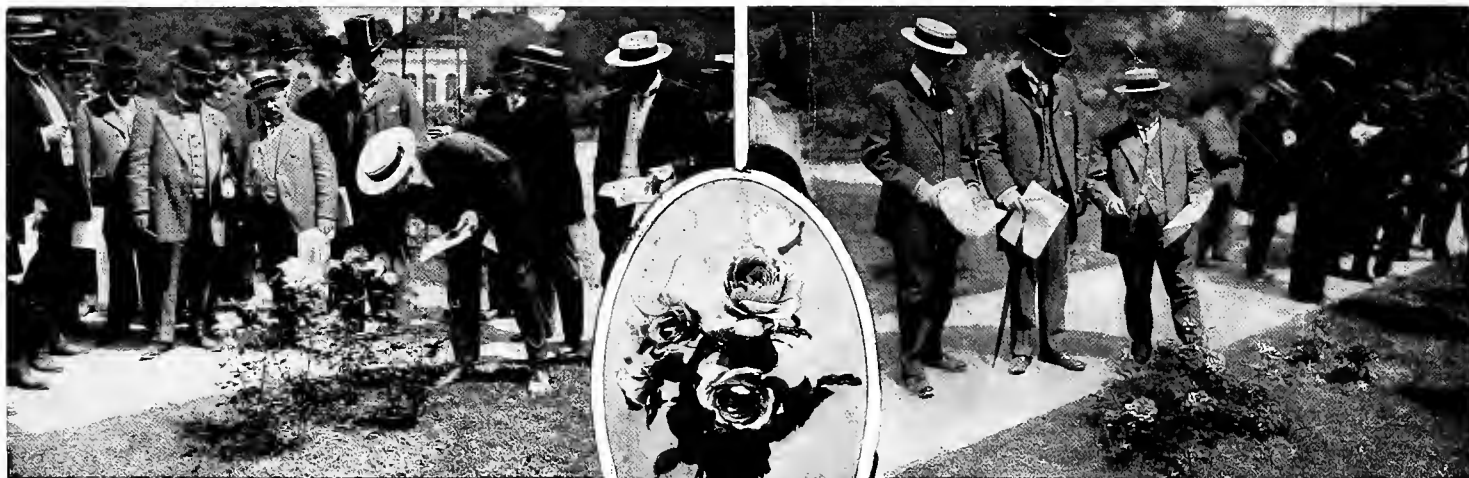

20. Registration. "Oh, where is my wandering Freshman girl?" College is started. Same napkins as yesterday. Poster night.

21. Sophs win poster fight. It was a dirty trick. A day of class meetings. Sophs start and break up, Fresh start and are broken up, Juniors start and keep up.

23. Fresh win keg rush. 44-35 hands. Fresh girls have a 10 cent feed.

24. List posted for meeting. Hard luck, so soon.

25. B. Roberts elected Senior Class president.

This illustration shows the prominence of The Conard & Jones Co. in the Rose-growing World. Our president Mr. Pyle, (who was selected to represent AMERICA at the INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION and judging of NEW ROSES), is here shown in the act of deciding the points of merit of the 1911 Prize-winning Rose Jonkheer J. L. Mock. The illustration in centre reproduces this famous rose.

Rose Jonkheer J. L. Mock (H. T.) A novelty of distinct merit. Color is carmine changing to imperial pink. The blooms, which are produced with the greatest freedom, are carried on stiff and erect stems, and are of large size, perfect formation and highly perfumed. 1 year size, 35c., postpaid. 2 year size, 75c., by express.

27. "Ducky" on the filthy weed in collection. Gordon duly elected Fresh. Class president. Another one on the Sophs.
28. Alice Garwood and Ducky conduct Psychology.
29. Italy declares war on Turkey. Some one hold J. Monaghan.
30. Prexy's reception. Horace on the job.

- Oct. 1. Meeting list absent, and so are we.
2. Alex. has a gambling joint for T. Spackman. Tough costumes and Peter's chocolate for chips.

- Oct. 3. Clock stops as Miss Bronk speaks. Is Goddard's allowance getting short? He's stopped wearing checked suits. Molasses fight in Wharton. Juniors elect Lewis president.
7. Slim attendance at game. Auto races in Park.
Lafayette, 11; Swarthmore, 5.
8. Swell day for a walk, huh, Eberle?
11. Student Government meeting discusses faculty rules.
12. Men's Student Government Association expresses righteous indignation over the social rules imposed on students. Excitement in collection. Dr. Battin and Tom Taylor read their respective papers. Lonie asleep.
13. Superstition party by Lucky '13 in cellar.
14. Prexy pleads for attendance at meeting.
15. Three boys at meeting. Rainy day.
16. Miss Blanchard fails to appear at party in her honor. Junior hostesses change their plans accordingly, and have a good old feed and frolic instead. New power plant puffs a few times and quits.

MORAL:—Use Autocar Motor vehicles.

SELECTION

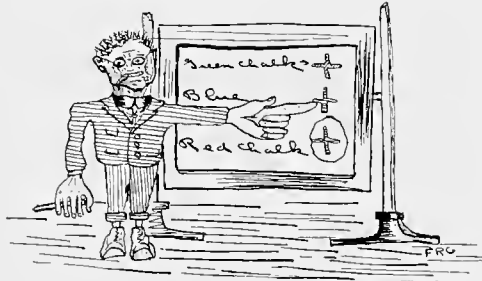

There are a great many motor vehicles on the market, some new and untried, some old and proven faulty, and some that have been the principal factor in establishing the value of motor vehicles for commercial purposes.

Simplicity in design, constructed for lasting service, built from the ground up to withstand the severest test of hard daily use in any season of the year, has made the AUTOCAR the choice of the country's leading merchants.

Over six hundred concerns have adopted the AUTOCAR using from one to seventy-four Autocars each. Write for list of users and Catalog No. 4Y.

The Path to Purity

Sharples Tubular Cream Separators not only extract all cream from milk, but also remove, from both milk and cream, that unwholesome sediment and viscous matter you so dislike to see remaining in your glass. A Tubular opens the path to purity in dairy products.

For One Cow or Many

The superiority of the Tubular is too universally acknowledged to need comment. The low supply can, enclosed self-oiling gears, bottom fed bowl suspended from single frictionless, ball-bearing, and the plumb bob attached to rear of frame for levelling machine indicate unrivalled excellence. Made in all sizes. Suitable for one cow or many.

it must combine

1. ABSOLUTE SECURITY
2. LOW NET COST

In both of these very essential features the

Equitable Life Insurance Co. of Iowa

ranks without a peer, and is best appreciated by those who "know" the business. Investigate for yourself.

STENOGRAPHY FOR MEN

It is truly remarkable when we consider how many young men have worked up from stenographic secretaries to positions of railroad presidents, cabinet officers, bank presidents and heads of great manufacturing and mercantile establishments in every line of business. If bright young men knew what a splendid business asset a knowledge of stenography and typewriting would be to them, and how easily in comparison with other branches of technical knowledge such an equipment may be secured, they would lose no time in taking a thorough course in Banks Business College—one of the most reliable Commercial Schools in America.

Feb. 26. Latin Class nearly loses its equilibrium. Don Ferguson tries a similar stunt. Say, I wonder if the Juliet has changed?

27. Spring has come. Parrish windows are full. The sunshine is soft and warm, the birds are twittering. The girls give their hair its spring washing.

March 1. Officer, it's here again, and it's not tame by a lamb sight.

2. Usual day for a Saturday, except that it doesn't snow.

3. Same thing. Sign up and sleep.

5. Big rush for Phoenix. It is against the rule to take your Phoenix out of your own box.

The "QR" Effect in Heating

Your building should have the best of heating systems—the Webster "QR" Modulation System.

Uses low pressure steam—circulates perfectly—heats the coldest room.

"QR" means "Quick Response." It is quicker to heat than hot water, and quicker to cool. Any desired temperature maintained, from full steam warmth to mild hot water effect, by manipulating one valve on each radiator.

March 14. Junior smoker. MacDowell gets sick on a Fatima. Lest we forget. "Hot end."

15. Men's Glee Club. They carried some one out of the audience. No wonder.

Suffrage tea. Get wise. Miss Gorham and Miss Bronk give talks. Let them suffer.

16. Papers say we are to get $100,000 by a will. But we eat ham and cabbage for Sunday dinner just the same. Why doesn't some one leave us an automat?

17. Put another button in collection, as we are saving up for vacation.

18. Mid-semester start first hour.

19. Sh! Miss Gorham has bangs and gray hair. (Discovered by our special detective, Fanny MacDowell.)

20. Prexy announces that spring vacation will start Friday, 4 P.M. Just as if we didn't know it.

21. G. I. K. dance. Usual sore feet walking home.

Lucca Cream Olive Oil

Having for the past forty years been importing our olive oil, we have had opportunities by correspondence as well as a personal visit, to ascertain the best source to obtain our supply, and for the above time have imported from the same producer, and it has always been satisfactory.

There are four grades of table oil imported; we import only the oil known as "Cream" which is the highest grade.

Our oil is "Guaranteed by Robert Shoemaker & Co., under the Food and Drugs Act, June 30, 1906. No. 1006."
